The TechAmerica Foundation will be hosting a one day conference November 10th in San Diego based on the findings of the two day Vision Conference, which is held annually in the Washington, DC area.

Many companies use the information to develop their annual operating and long range strategic plans. The 2nd annual West Coast Vision Conference will deliver a comprehensive and useful analysis of federal spending and future business opportunities.

Don't be left out wondering where the dollars and business opportunities can be found!
